I think that there are only a few masterpieces in an artist's career...like milestones. And those moments aren't planned. They happen after hours and hours of work. How do we name a work a masterpiece? Sometimes, and only sometimes, magic happens and a work comes alive and climbs higher and higher. When we look back we recognize a piece of mastery...and call it a masterpiece. It is the one pearl within a chain of pearls that grows and stands out to become this very special work.

I believe I can create a masterpiece, but I don't know when.
